

DERRICK BREIDENTHAL | Artist Statement

A burst of color in the distance. The slow drift of a morning sky. The insulated echoes in a field of snow. These are not passing, forgotten moments. They linger and remain. They help me stay sane.