

WALKER FINE ART

CAROL BROWNING | Artist Statement

Unlocking the sights, sounds and movement of nature significantly influence my art. Growing up in Colorado, I have learned to appreciate the deep, and at times mysterious beauty of our environment. It has taken many years of painting to fully connect to my surroundings. My intention is not to recreate what I see but to paint what is felt.

My art is not a window but a vessel that contains my dreams, experiences, emotions and spirit. The paintings pull me in to the vast landscapes of color, pattern and shape. I often think of my paintings as visual symphonies on canvas, an expression in mark-making that emphasize the rhythms of life.

My process involves combining glazes with impasto layers of paint connecting line and organic shapes. Color, value and composition play a vital role in finding a balance between chaos and serenity. As my work progresses the marks become more expressive and the experience is an adventure in self-discovery. Through art I strive for a connectedness in knowing myself in relationship to the world.
